Providing Information and Materials to Postsecondary Institutions Serving Students who are Deaf and Hard of Hearing

Sponsored by a contract with the US Department of Education, Office of Special Education and Rehabilitative Services

Welcome to the Third Edition of the PEPNet Resource Center Catalog!

The PEPNet Resource Center (PRC) was established in 1997 as a repository for training and informational materials created by the four regional centers on postsecondary education for individuals who are deaf. Together these centers are called the Postsecondary Education Programs Network (PEPNet). These centers provide training and technical assistance to the range of postsecondary institutions across the United States who currently serve, or may serve, students who are deaf or hard of hearing. The PRC assists these centers by distributing their products as well as providing information and resources on deafness.

Since its establishment the PRC has grown tremendously. It now distributes hundreds of products monthly. The PRC website allows for online ordering of products as well as providing access to one of the largest collections of materials about people who are deaf and hard of hearing in the United States. Please take a moment to visit our website at <http://prc.csun.edu>.

This catalog lists all the products created by the regional centers and their outreach sites. The products can be used for self-education or for group trainings. Each item has been assigned a product code to help in targeting audiences that would benefit from the product.

The PRC also distributes products created by other federal grants. The PRC is proud to provide an avenue for these products to reach a wide audience. These products were created outside of the PEPNet Consortia, so there is a minimal fee to cover duplication and distribution costs.

We hope you enjoy this catalog and benefit from the products contained herein. Please let us know what other types of products you would like to see created.

To learn more about the PEPNet organization, see the inside backcover of this catalog and visit the PEPNet website at <http://www.pepnet.org>.

National Task Force Reports on Quality of Services in the Postsecondary Education of Deaf and Hard of Hearing Students

A series of reports to assist postsecondary institutions in developing and maintaining special services of quality as needed by their deaf and hard of hearing students. Each report has been prepared with postsecondary administrators, faculty, and staff in mind and particularly those most likely to have a role in providing services to these students. They are designed to offer a historical perspective, a look at current practices, and innovative ideas for the future. These reports may be useful also to deaf and hard of hearing students in gaining more information about services for which they may be eligible. Also available on-line at www.netac.rit.edu/. Defining Communication Access

Many Deaf and hard of hearing individuals request print accommodations in postsecondary settings. Service providers are often at a loss as to how to evaluate if this is an appropriate accommodation for the individual. The goal of this module is to help service providers develop an understanding of the strengths and weaknesses of various accommodations in the range of learning environments to help them better understand when print accommodations are appropriate.
