RESOURCES ON TECHNOLOGY

Defining Communication Access #1127

Many Deaf and hard-of-hearing individuals request print accommodations in postsecondary settings. Service providers are often at a loss as to how to evaluate if this is an appropriate accommodation for the individual. The goal of this module is to help service providers develop an understanding of the strengths and weaknesses of various accommodations in the range of learning environments to help them better understand when print accommodations are appropriate. Produced by Western Oregon University (WOU). 2002. Handout. Free.

Make the Connection! Creating a Community Connection: Attempts to Provide and Improve Service to Deaf and Hard of Hearing Consumers #1125

Produced by the Utah Community Center of the Deaf and Hard of Hearing. A Powerpoint(R) presentation on "How to" make community alliances and connections in providing service delivery to deaf and hard of hearing consumers. Based on a conference held at the center. Handout. Free. The WROCC outreach site at Utah.

Video Services Model: Climbing the Mountain of Technology: Dare the Ascent! #1124

Produced by the Utah Community Center of the Deaf and Hard of Hearing. A Powerpoint(R) presentation based on a service delivery model being developed in the state of Utah. This model and presentation focus on service delivery through technology for deaf and hard of hearing consumers. Handout. Free. The WROCC outreach site at Utah.

Providing Real-time Captioning, C-Print™, and ALD's #1090

This video addresses issues related to setting up real-time captioning services. Using C-Print-speech to print services, and Assistive Listening Devices in higher education. Content includes how to find and provide some of the most commonly requested services by Deaf and Hard of Hearing students. Produced by St. Paul Technical College (MCPO). 2000. Video. $20.00.

Understanding Access #1121

A videotape about the most commonly requested accommodations made of universities by students. Deaf and hard of hearing students are featured, as well as an in-depth interview with a professor at California State University, Northridge. This 45-minute videotape is good for introducing the topic of access for students in the postsecondary setting who are deaf or hard of hearing. It can be used as a discussion springboard or alone to give an overview of understanding access. Produced by Western Region Outreach Center & Consortia (WROCC). $20.00.

Providing Realtime Captioning, C-Print™ and ALD's #1090

A videotape addressing issues related to setting up real-time captioning services, using C-Print, speech-to-text services and assistive listening devices in higher education. Content includes how to find and provide some of the most commonly requested services by deaf & hard of hearing students. The program panelists share their experience in working with the deaf & hard of hearing population in postsecondary education and offer guidance to college/university personnel responsible for setting-up services for those students. Produced by MCPO. <http://www.mcpo.org>. 2000. $20.00.
